

Workplace

Readings and case studies on the applications of data science in the workplace (e.g., in hiring or promotion) and the ethical implications of using statistical models in such contexts.